HOW WE MAKE IT

From paper reel to your counter.

Six steps, one factory, one team accountable for the result.

01

Paper

We select kraft or white paper, and the right weight, for your size and load.

02

Print

Your artwork goes on press, matched to your brand colours.

03

Cut and fold

Automated lines cut and fold every sheet to exact dimensions.

04

Form

Bag-making machines glue the body and square the base.

05

Handles

Flat or twisted handles are fixed securely, if your bag needs them.

06

Check and pack

We inspect print, seams and handle strength, then pack for delivery.

02

BOXES

Boxes that open like a gift.

Printed boxes for oriental sweets, pastries, chocolates and gifts. The kind of box customers keep on the table.

Sleeve boxes

A printed sleeve over a sliding tray. A premium reveal for sweets and chocolates.

Window boxes

Show the product through a clear window while the print carries the brand.

Lid and base

Classic two-piece boxes for cakes, gift sets and seasonal collections.

Matching bags

Pair every box with a printed carrier bag for one complete look.

Size, board, print and finish are made to your brief.

SUCCESS STORY

One packaging family for Tseppas.

Tseppas has made oriental sweets since 1913, and its boxes are given as gifts across Egypt. We produced a range that looks like one family, from the counter to the host's table.

What we made

Illustrated gift boxes with satin ribbon handles, artisanal chocolate boxes and seasonal editions, printed in one family.

Why it works

One visual language across every size, so the brand is recognised from across the room, and the bag carries it out of the shop.
